I am pleased to inform you that Jeff Rosen has been appointed News Editor of The Canadian Jewish News.

In this position, Jeff will assume the duties of assignment editor, and will continue to supervise editorial production and the layout of the Toronto section. He will be responsible for assigning news stories and features for both the Toronto and national news sections to staff reporters and freelancers.

During his five years with The CJN, Jeff has developed strong relationships with major community organizations -- and as we know, he can lay stories in straight on the page, even at 8 a.m.

Jeff's hard work and devotion to good news reporting will contribute to his continued success in his new responsibilities.
